

20

Synchronicity

PRESENT CHALLENGE

Accepting that everything happens for a reason and that each event now occurring in your life has benefits.

You have drawn this card because some striking synchronicities have taken place or are about to take place in your life, and you may be unsure whether to view these events as guidance or merely coincidence.

This is an Integration card and it seeks to encourage you in establishing and maintaining your inner balance. This card brings you assurance that you are linked directly to your angelic teachers and to the God-source through your willingness to accept thoughts, feelings, and events in your life as clear and specific spiritual guidance bent on awakening you fully within this lifetime to the nature of God.

ANGELIC MESSAGE

Synchronicity

What is guidance? When you ask the Universe to be with you and guide your life, do you recognize that this is a living prayer and has profound manifestations on the etheric levels? Prayers—asking for help and a path through anguish and struggle—are met with immediate and direct angelic attention and intervention. When you pray, for example, you may feel better immediately. When you meditate, you may momentarily discover a renewal that you are unable to explain. When you release fear and accept a sequence of events different from those you wanted, you may feel strangely loved and safe. These are all the quiet but certain blessings of grace brought to you by your invocations.

Synchronicity is also the blessings of grace at work in your life, but it suggests that you are preparing to take physical action in some way and that you are being called upon to seek your true motivation and expectations for desired change. Synchronistic events help you appreciate that a deep level of change has been sought and is being addressed, and that it is important for you to understand the spiritual significance of this change rather than merely accepting it on the physical and emotional levels. You are being challenged to act only when you are clear about the spiritual components involved in your leaving, changing, and accepting something tangibly different for your life.

The flower, for example, grows regardless of synchronous events. It lacks the physical choices that human beings enjoy. The flower grows in direct alignment with its purpose as it senses it. People, on the other hand, are always attracting choices. When you can identify your true motivations and needs, then you can reflect on the synchronicities you are drawing to you, and you can benefit from impending physical, emotional, and spiritual shifts meant to further your spiritual awakening.

SPIRITUAL OPPORTUNITY

Your guidance through this flower image is to recognize that everything happens for a reason even though the reason may not be apparent immediately. The green tones of this flower tell you that you've drawn a card of healing, and the sharply contoured petals suggest that some contrasts are about to come into your life or may already have arrived. The fact that the petals are in pairs offers the thought that you'll have at least two major choices around this change, and you most assuredly want to choose the one that will lead to success.

What should you do? What is the right answer for this challenge? Look deeply into this flower image, and you will see the answer. Both petals grow from the center, or spiritual core. Any change point thus always has several solutions, and no one choice is either all right or all wrong.

Synchronicities in your life are meant to alert you that a change is necessary and that you need to activate your inner perceptual skills to create the awareness of the positives and perceived negatives that will result from each choice.

APPLICATION

Some synchronicities are obvious: meeting the same person in unlikely places three times in one week, or having the name of a particular city or state pop up over and over when you are searching for a place to live. Deeper synchronicities are also observable in the way the natural flow of your life works to separate you from people and/or relationships. You overhear a telephone conversation "by chance" or you open a piece of mail that you misread and thought was addressed to you, for example, and discover that people are making choices and are talking about feelings that you were unaware they had.

Spiritual synchronicity occurs when you keep hearing the same inner phrase or thought over and over. In your meditation, you may hear, "Accept your life and the teachings that are coming to you." Driving to work, you may listen to a tape in which the speaker talks about the power of accepting the challenges of your life as your teachers. At lunch, your friend may ask you if you've read a book called Accepting Life as Your Teacher. In all these examples of synchronicities, you are being given an inside understanding that change is occurring and that you are to glean all that you can without blame or judgement so that you are free to move on with your life. Even if you don't want to move on, the events in your life show you that a greater purpose is being played out.